

Fire Marshal of the Year – Tom Maloney

The recipient of this award has been a solid, positive influence of the Fire service in the State of Washington for some time. Usually, a calm and quiet individual, the recipient's presence can be felt in every aspect of the Association that they are involved in. This individual is not shy about sharing the knowledge and the enthusiasm they project for fire prevention.

Having been in a position of Fire Marshal for many years, this year's honoree has been involved in all aspects of community risk reduction and fire prevention and brings that broad experience to the Association

Their peers highly respect this individual, not only for the efforts that they have made but for the professional demeanor that they have provided in helping to expand the vision of CRR/Fire Protection.

There is not much that this individual has been involved within the State of Washington in regards to life safety and has served as a mentor and model for others involved in Fire Prevention.

Life Member Award – Greg Rogers

This award has been developed to recognize those individuals who have dedicated all or part of their career to the enhancement and positive influence of fire prevention. In some cases, this may be in a single position or multiple positions as their career progresses.

The recipient of the award for this year is an individual who is not shy about sharing their enthusiasm for life safety, including opening conversations about it in parts of the Fire Service that may not hear about it. That enthusiasm is not only local or regional but is also felt nationally.

Although many in the room may not know about the recipient's full career and may have only seen the more recent aspects of it, we all have benefitted from the results of the hard work this individual put forth in representing the Association's fundamental objectives and participating on the WSAFM Board of Directors.

Having received several awards and serving in countless leadership positions not only in the Fire Service but also in his community, it is a career worth noting and one worthy of this recognition.

Member of the Year – Robert Ferrell

The Association Member of the Year award has been established to recognize a member's contributions towards the goals and objectives that we have established. With such a diverse membership, this can be a challenge to choose the one member that stands out the most. It was not too hard this year.

To be a recognized leader and partner in community risk reduction with an emphasis in fire prevention

The recipient of the award has been a strong supporter for Fire Prevention and has made a significant contribution to the Association in this difficult year. With a calm demeanor, and professional presence, this member has helped us to better monitor our training and managed to keep up with the challenges that we faced this year.

This person exhibits the passion in promoting fire and life safety, and is always willing to find time to assist, and to move the Association forward.
